

Angel Use License
digiscraps by Deb
January 2008

By purchasing this product, you are granted permission to use the product in a limited professional setting (for profit) under the following conditions.

hand crafters: may create and sell craft items at craft fairs and other venues (including online), providing there is no mass production (every item is hand crafted), and the number of items sold using any one kit does not exceed two hundred pieces in a calendar year. Examples of acceptable-use hand-crafted items would be altered paint cans and other containers, hand-crafted greeting cards, calendars, canvases and other wall-art, decorated journals or book covers, paper-scrapped layouts or mini-albums. No mass production allowed.

computer crafters: may create and sell customised scrapbook pages, invitations, and birth announcements for clients which include the client's own photographs, providing the finished product is available to the client in flattened jpg form only and includes the client's photographs - in printed form or for electronic delivery. Production of blank pages (also known as ploppers, templates, or quick pages) is not permitted.

what is NOT included in this policy

1. you may not use my products to create other digital scrapbooking products for sale - eg you may not use a Deb Fisher alpha to create another alpha to sell or give away to others.
2. you may not use my products in website design, nor to create any form of template.
3. you may not use my products for advertising or promotion purposes, in print or digital or online form.
4. you may not use my products for any form of mass production.
5. you may not re-distribute my products by any means.

Any violation of these terms will automatically void your Angel Use agreement.

These terms are subject to change.
